Elder Parmele Preaches To Large Congregation At The Adventist Tent.

INTERESTING SUBJECT TO-NIGHT.

A good sized congregation gathered at the tent on Third avenue last night to hear Elder Parmele preach on "Our Future Home. The elder showed from the Scriptures the Home that God planned for the race in the beginning. "If sin had never entered," said the speaker, "would God ever have altered his original plan? Would the race have ever been deprived of the tree of life? And, if not, would sun ever have died? Would the earth ever have been cursed? Then when sin is blotted out of the universe, and the effects of sin are removed will not the earth be restored to its Edenic beauty, and its original productiveness?

"When the 'sheep' are separated from the 'goats' at the day of the Lord, the righteous are invited to inherit the kingdom prepared for them from the foundation of the world. What kingdom was that? Evidently the one given to Adam as shown in Gen. 1: 28, Ps. 8:5-8.

Then the earth will be freed from the curse, Rev. 22:3; the redeemed will have access to the tree of life, verse 14, Rev. 2:7; their dominion will be absolute, Isa. 11:5-7; 65:17-25."

At the close of the sermon Mr. Whitford, the singing evangelist, sang an appropriate solo fitting the sermon. The subject for tonight is, "The Prophetic History of the World."

FAST TIME TO FLORIDA.

Philip Jaqui and wife, of Morristown, N.J., are in the city, and after a visit down the coast, will go back for a protracted stay and for the races. J., Monday noon, 1 o'clock, and ate his dinner here last night. This shows the sort of service the railroads now give between the East and Daytona.

Cold Snap Gave DeLandites An Extra Touch But Without Any Great Damage.

Chairman Geo. F. Council, of the Volusia County School Board, accompanied by his brother-in-law, G. M. Brownlee, the solidarity of the ultimate made it a haven of retreat for such solidarity of the ultimate made it a haven of retreat for such Daytona is no exception to the rule, and to the casual observer it is apparent that a very large percentage of her white victims are elderly people. Many such could hardly survive the rigors of a northern winter. Cooped up in artificially heated rooms they would not dare open the icy streets and brave the piercing cold. Here they saunter forth upon the streets, drink in the bracing air, bathe in the sunshine and exercise.

Such people love to drop down now and then and rest and watch the procession motor by; the pony carts, the automobiles, the pedestrians. These are the people who are often seen for a long time on which to rest.

It would not cost a great deal and would show a liberal and welcome spirit strangers would appreciate. On the seats could be some such inscription as "Welcome to Best Here," "Come Sit Here," or "Rest Awhile," or some like expression.

There are a few such seats and if you will observe they are daily used. There are not nearly enough of them.

Makes a Large Vote For a Single Day—Rifles And Stars Voting Large.

The Elks are shooting. The count of Tuesday evening put them ahead of Miss Mary Gille and right on the heels of the Order Eastern Star. Miss Gille's friends are hustling hard in their behalf, but they hope to pass in order of time. However, the Daytona High School and the Halifax Rifles each are further ahead of the Elks than they were before. The High School made a great run on the Rifles the Eastern Star knocked a large vote.

Outside of Daytona there was really nothing of interest. Miss Elsie Cowles has again passed Miss Alice Daugherty, and the Ormond School got 50 votes more.

The Kingston school gained over five thousand on the Wilmore opera house and is fighting hard in the face of great odds.

W. E. STYCH DIES IN CUBA

Word reached this city, Tuesday afternoon, of the death at Bahai Honda, Cuba, of W. E. Stych a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Randolph, of Second avenue, and a man well and favorably known here.

A cable was sent from Bahai Honda to Mrs. Stych, who is with her parents in this city, but failed to reach her, and she finally received the sad intelligence by letter from a sister of her husband, who is living in Orlando.

Mr. Stych, who would have been 29 years of age in April, died of hemorrhage of the lungs, Thursday of last week. His father, William Stych, has charge of a large plantation at Bahai Honda, and Mr. Stych joined his parents there last July for the benefit of his health, and was apparently much improved. Mr. Stych suffered from a severe attack of fever nearly two years ago, and while in a weakened condition his lungs became affected.

His death came suddenly, and was a shock to his relatives and friends here, and his young wife and her parents have the deep sympathy of their friends and neighbors.

Mr. Randolph has called to have the remains forwarded to Daytona.

Cold Snap Gave DeLandites An Extra Touch But Without Any Great Damage.

Chairman Geo. F. Crouch, of the Volusia County School Board, accompanied by his brother-in-law, G. M. Braunfels, New York City, president of the wholesale hardware firm of Braunfels, Browning & Co., took a run over to DeLand Monday, the former on business connected with the schools. They report the DeLand thermometers as showing four degrees more cold than the coast thermometers but it was the general opinion over about the capital that the results of the cold snap would be insignificant. They thought that neither citrus fruit nor the trees would be materially damaged and the loss would be confined to the more tender fruits and vegetables.

Mr. Braunfels is infatuated with Daytona. While he enjoyed DeLand and credits them with many attractions he sees nothing elsewhere in Florida that is worthy of mention in the same breath with Daytona and it is a safe bet that Mr. Braunfels and wife—Mrs. Braunfels is likewise pleased with the Queen of the Coast—will build a winter home here and become fixtures.

They report the DeLand-Daytona road in good condition, but for the chug-holes between here and Mt. Ararat.

(By United Press.)

ST. PETERSBURG, via Eydtkuhnan, Feb. 3.—It is thought that the Government supporters succeeded in having the Doumas investigation of the Secret Police scandal postponed for ten days, during which time a special committee will prepare the report. They admit today that there is no hope of stifling scandal of such huge proportions. It is believed that other departments than the police will become involved in the exposures being made by A. Lopukhin, former director of the police. Lopukhin is being closely guarded in prison.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Pratt and Mr and Mrs. Gilman Davis and son, Harold, of Oswego, N. Y., who are located for the season at 115 Loomis avenue, are fully enjoying the beauty and fine weather of Daytona. This is their first visit here, and they are delighted with the city and its surroundings.

OFFICIALS OF THE COUNTY

Hold a Regular Monthly Session, But Do Little Of Interest To Coast Section.

ASK FOR 2D AVE. IMPROVEMENT.

The Board of County Commissioners held its regular monthly meeting at DeLand Monday evening and Tuesday morning; all members were present; but little business was transacted.

The following road and bridge reports were submitted:

District No. 1. Progress on East Coast road to Ferry and Osteen and Titusville road.

No. 2. Completion of work on Orange City and DeLand road, Lake Helen road, and prisoners at work on DeLand-Daytona road.

No. 3. Pinestrawing Glenwood and DeLand road, DeLand and DeLeon road and progress on Glenwood and Stetson road.

No. 4. Progress on Smith creek bridge.

No. 5 Repairs on Oak Hill and New Smyrna road.

The petition of citizens of Ormond in relation to repairs on roads was referred to Commissioner Bradshaw for such action as he may see fit.

The petition of Wm. M. Carswell and others asking for repairs to Second avenue road, near Daytona, and agreeing to pay $120 toward such work was referred to Commissioner Bradshaw for such action as he deems best.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for painting courthouse roof and poor house.

The Criminal Court cost bills were examined and approved for $67.41 and the clerk instructed to issue warrants therefor.

No other business of interest to the Coast section was transacted.

PROFESSOR MAKES A HIT.

Professor Maurice, the magician, attracted a good house at the 'Gator Moving Picture show last night and performed a great many exceedingly clever magic turns which kept his audience guessing from the very start.

The professor's ready wit and his humorous hits as he proceeds keeps his hearers and watchers in a titter all the time. The 'Gator had a good show and a good house last evening.

BARONESS TAKAHIRA, WIFE OF THE JAPANESE AMBASSADOR.

The wife of the Japanese ambassador is one of the best dressed women in Washington. She is also a great favorite in society at the capital. She has traveled extensively and is well acquainted with nearly all the European diplomats. Ambassador Takahira and his wife have given some of the most elaborate dinners and receptions held in Washington this season.

Seabreeze News

SEABREEZE, Feb. 3.—Somebody erred and the mail bag containing the Daily News was missed in Daytona Beach yesterday afternoon and the Daily News subscribers were righteously disgruntled, on account of the non-arrival of their papers.

J. B. Jones, who recently purchased Mr. Stewart's cottage on the corner of Earl and Valley streets, has a force of carpenters and cleaners at work putting the house and premises in fine shape. Two rooms will be added, side porch and bath room, a wall put down and the front yard graded and set to flowers and grass, and the house treated to a fresh coat of paint. Mr. Jones is energetically superintending the work. Mrs. O. T. Holloway, of Ohio, is guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jones at their new home.

The mocking birds were singing yesterday in other forgetfulness of the recent cold and the bathers were again enjoying the warm surf and the sunshine.

Roger Whitfield arrived yesterday in camp and is at his home on Valley street. Mr. Whitfield left his party at Jacksonville. They are expected to arrive tomorrow.

The Ladies' Circle met with Mr. Poor, on Pinewood avenue, this afternoon.

The council met in regular session Monday night. There was the usual budget of bills. A petition was presented and accepted for the opening and dedicating of a boulevard from Pinewood avenue to the ocean. On motion it was voted to appropriate $25 from the town treasury, for the months of February, March and April, for the benefit of the band.

H. C. Buckland is drawing plans for a bungalow for Mr. Underhill, who recently purchased a beach lot near the Country Club house.

A good many tickets have been sold for the moonlight excursion to night going up for the benefit of the band.

Mr. and Mrs. McNutt, of Cleveland, Ohio, who arrived several weeks ago from Bethlehem, W. Va., have taken rooms at Mrs. Julia Martin's home, on Ocean boulevard.

Woman's Sense.

"The scout was excellent that frosty morning. She walked across the field bundling her sliding skirt from off her patent leather boots and silver spurs."

"Spurs?" shouted the editor. "What ails you, man?"

"Spurs?" the puzzled author repeated. "Don't they wear spurs nowadays? I know they used to."

"Women never wear spurs unless they ride astride. They wear one shoe—one only. What good would a second be, except to beat the clothes?"

"I see," said the other. "A natural error, wasn't it?"

"Only a natural error for an ignoramus. But the usual writer of sporting stories is an ignoramus. I rarely read a sporting story but I come across some error quite as blatant as this of yours."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Doings at Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, Feb. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Ayers entertained Friday evening for Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Ayers, of Detroit, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Olds and daughter, of Lansing, Mich. Five tables of "500" were in play. The first prize was won by James Harrison, of New York, and consisted of a half bushel basket filled with twelve different kinds of fruits and vegetables taken from the Ayers garden. Dainty refreshments were served. Yesterday Mr. Klock the party for a twenty mile ride on the Halifax river in his launch, Bonayre. All reported a delightful time.

E. A. Davis, who is spending the winter at The Pinehurst, enjoyed a call yesterday forenoon from his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Leggett, who arrived at Daytona Monday night from Homestead, L. I.

Winfred Meeks Haight and pretty young bride arrived from Peekskill, N. Y., last Friday night, on a visit to his parents on Peninsula Drive. The local paper gives the following account of the ceremony: "Haight-Adams. Winfred Meeks Haight and Cora Bell Adams were quietly married Monday, Jan. 27, at the home of Rev. Barber's mother, Mrs. Victoria Adams, Courtland avenue, by Rev. Geo. E. Barber. Only the immediate family were present. They go to Daytona Beach, where they will spend sometime with Mr. Haight's parents Mr. and Mrs. James Haight."

Douglas Horton, of Peekskill, N. Y., arrived Tuesday and is a guest at The Pinehurst.

J. C. Newman and wife, of Chicago, arrived from the North yesterday and are guests at the Seaside Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Smith, of Franklin, Ind., arrived from St. Petersburg yesterday and expect to spend the rest of the season here.

Mr. Austin is having his lot and yard graded.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ernestage, C. E. Hamilton and wife, St. Louis; Wm. H. Jones, Long Island, are recent arrivals at the Daytona Beach Hotel.

Mrs. Wm. Wentworth Jr., was over from Holly Hill visiting at the White House yesterday.

John J. Hart, wife and little son, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Cook, Santa Dakota, arrived the first part of the week and are present guests at the Surf Crest.

Drawing the Line.

"I don't mind listening to a man who is paying for my dinner tell me the story of his life," said the woman. "Men's lives are generally interesting but I won't stand to hear a woman tell everything she knows, even if she does pay for my dinner. I'd rather pay for my own dinner and get an occasional shy at the conversation."—New York Press.

There is only one cure for public distress, and that is public education, directed to make men thoughtful, merciful and just.—Ruskin

Seabreeze News

SEABREEZE, Feb. 3.—Somebody erred and the mail bag containing the Daily News was missent to Daytona Beach yesterday afternoon and the Daily News subscribers were righteously disgruntled, on account of the non-arrival of their papers.

J. B. Jones, who recently purchased Mrs Stewart's cottage on the corner of Earl and Valley streets, has a force of carpenters and cleaners at work putting the house and premises in fine shape. Two rooms will be added, side porch and bath room, a wall put down and the front yard graded and set to flowers and grass, and the house treated to a fresh coat of paint. Mr Jones is energetically superintending the work. Mrs. O. T. Holloway, of Ohio, is guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jones at their new home.

The mocking birds were singing yesterday in utter forgetfulness of the recent cold and the bathers were again enjoying the warm surf and the sunshine.

Roger Whinfield arrived yesterday morning and is at his home on Valley street. Mr. Whinfield left his party at Jacksonville. They are expected to arrive tomorrow.

The Ladies' Circle met with Mr. Poor, on Pinewood avenue, this afternoon.

The council met in regular session Monday night. There was the usual budget of bills. A petition was presented and accepted for the opening and shelling of a boulevard from Pinewood avenue to the ocean. On motion it was voted to appropriate $25 from the town treasury, for the months of February, March and April for the benefit of the band.

H. C. Buckland is drawing plans for a bungalow for Mr. Uebehrlow, who recently purchased a beach lot near the Country Club house.

A good many tickets have been sold for the moonlight excursion tonight gotten up for the benefit of the band.

Mr. and Mrs. McNutt of Cleveland, Ohio, who arrived several weeks ago from Parkersburg, W. Va., have taken rooms at Mrs. Julia Martin's home, on Ocean boulevard.

Woman's Spur.

"The scent was excellent that frosty morning. She walked across the field, holding her riding skirt free of her patent leather boots and silver spurs.'"

"Spurs?" shouted the editor. "What ails you, man?"

"Spurs?" the puzzled author repeated. "Don't they wear spurs nowadays? I know they used to."

"Women never wear spurs unless they ride astride. They wear one spur—one only. What good would a second be, except to tear the clothes?"

"I see," said the other. "A natural error, wasn't it?"

"Only a natural error for an ignoramus. But the usual writer of sporting stories is an ignoramus. I rarely read a sporting story but I come across some error quite as blatant as this of yours."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Drawing the Line.

"I don't mind listening to a man who is paying for my dinner tell me the story of his life," said the woman. "Men's lives are generally interesting, but I won't stand to hear a woman tell everything she knows, even if she does pay for my dinner. I'd rather pay for my own dinner and get an occasional shy at the conversation."—New York Press.

The Modern Seven Wonders

Daytona's Incomparable Ocean Beach.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever perched a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls that ply in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.

Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom, grassy food flakes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to bathers, and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and aunt and snowy-winged sea birds, which oft almost as if for the sport of bobbing upon her waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican perch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk so-gling guard with his floundering food be snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spirit and span, their bumpers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid as liquid ready for a cruise upon her beautiful surface. Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies, and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live-oaks extend their giant arms across this magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from tropic seas fan them. Looking straight down through this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with silver draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

Surpassing Beauty in Our Cottage Homes.

As one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps uncommon note usually universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottage. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of stultingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering "What next?"

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give to Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the little finishing touches which have brought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of garbage, the entire city becomes a great park.

And as for pavements, pavements that look and feel like gravelly,—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? Till some unheard-of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Sidewalks, Flowers, Birds and Fruits.

Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or ever callous one may be to many things, the most insensitive of "squirrels and flowers, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is thrice blessed to astonished pupils and prickled ears.

For every visitor with a spare "greenback" there is a bunny ready to come and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and gaze into the coat, racing furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

However, I usually treat and blooming the year 'round. In our yard most of variegated hues predominate, another has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame, another's hobby is a jungle of tall cacti.

The birds do so, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, those citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their load one of luscious golden globes.

The Fastest Autos And The Finest Out.

Here is where world's records for speed are broken with every recurring season. Autos the biggest, the fastest and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousand flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly thrilling scenes. You will probably catch the spirit and when you do the roads and the beach are yours. The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will not have to go down in your wallet only for rent for the auto and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

Running a Corral.

The current fad here is to "ship of the desert." Like the ship, he may be rassoled, and to that predicament he is helpless. His manner of lying down to rest is to fold his legs beneath his body. If he happens to rest upon his side he cannot recover his feet again. This infirmity of the animal is mentioned by the Count de Lesseps in the account of his journey, "From Pekin to Siberia."

"The corrosion was made up of camels. I had brought some new ones and had no idea of taking any other animals into a country largely composed of loose sand. An amusing incident marked the beginning of our march. One camel, awkward on foot as are, managed to tumble into a ditch of rice mud between the road and a wheatfield. When once fallen a camel can only get up again if he can arrange its feet conveniently under it and if the ground is nearly dry.

"In this case it was not so. The animal lay with all four feet in the air, perfectly resigned and incapable of a single movement to help itself. To draw it out took more than half an hour and required the united efforts of many men with ropes passed under the camel's back."

The Good Fat Man.

Jones—You never hear of a fat criminal, do you? Brown—Certainly not. Look how difficult it would be for a stout person to stoop to anything low.—Kansas City Independent.

Economy of Costly Foods.

The economy of expensive foods is explained by the fact that digestion is so good in man, is dependent upon flavors, without which it is so defective that we do not obtain the good of the food we swallow. As for as economics go, they substantiate those assertions, for the sight and smell of pleasing food start the flow of digestive fluids, while disagreeable odors and sights stop it. Unpalatable food would seem to be stapler, for they are necessary. The talk of being able to subsist on a few cents a day is simply nonsense and leads to deterioration of health. What seems to be extravagance in food purchases may be wholesome instinct. The high cost of living is partly due to the cost of the flavors we need. We commend these ideas to our worthy dietetic economists. Laymen may not be so foolish as the physiologists themselves.—American Medicine.

A Novel Method of Advertising.

A storekeeper in a small out of the way town many years ago hit upon a novel method of advertising his store. He conceived the idea of buying up the stock of stamps at the postoffice across the way. The postmaster obtained by the unfolding of all his stock but his mysterious customer demanded the stamps over the counter, sheet after sheet, as an ordinary member of the public would be allowed, so right away to be had. Then he took the stock over to his store across the road and plastered his windows with notices that postage stamps were only to be had at his store, and to his mortification the postmaster had to send customers across to the store over the way for any stamps they needed until some days after he was more get in a stock from headquarters.

Won a Wife by His Skill.

Action was a Cincinnati painter of about the time of Alexander, and he won his wife by his great work. He painted a picture called "The Nuptials of Alexander and Roxana," which was exhibited at the Olympic games. It created such a stir that one of the judges cried in admiration, "I reserve crowns for the victorious athletes but I give my daughter in marriage to the painter Action as a recompense for his picture." Action was one of the artists who excelled in the art of mixing colors. He could not go to the nearest store and purchase them, as artists do today.

The Modern Seven Wonders

Daytona's Incomparable Ocean Beach.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.

Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy veranda's looking out upon her bosom, gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon her waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid an liquid ready for a cruise upon her beautiful surface Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies, and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live-oaks extend their giant arms across this magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottage. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering "What next?"

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give to Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the little finishing touches which have brought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage, the entire city becomes a great park

And as for pavements, pavements that look and act like granite,—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? Till some unheard-of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Fruits.

Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or eve callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "squirrels and flowers, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare "goober" there is a bunny ready to come out and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and gnaw into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers! Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round. In one yard roses of variagated hues predominate, another has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane.

The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes.

The Fastest Autos And The Finest Out.

Here is where world's records for speed are broken with every recurring season. Autos the biggest, the fastest and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousand flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene. You will probably catch the spirit and when you do the roads and the beach are yours The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down in your wallet only for coin for the auto and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

Rescuing a Camel.

The camel has been called the "ship of the desert." Like the ship, he may be capsized, and in that predicament he is helpless. His manner of lying down to rest is to fold his legs beneath his body. If he happens to roll upon his side he cannot recover his feet again. This infirmity of the animal is mentioned by the Count de Lesdain in the account of his journey, "From Pekin to Sikkim:"

"The caravan was made up of camels. I had brought some new ones and had no idea of taking any other animals into a country largely composed of loose sand. An amusing incident marked the beginning of our march. One camel, awkward as they all are, managed to tumble into a ditch of thick mud between the road and a wheatfield. When once fallen a camel can only get up again if it can arrange its feet conveniently under it and if the ground is nearly flat.

"In this case it was not so. The animal lay with all four feet in the air, perfectly resigned and incapable of a single movement to help itself. To draw it out took more than half an hour and required the united efforts of many men with cords passed under the camel's back."

Economy of Costly Foods.

The economy of expensive foods is explained by the fact that digestion, at least in man, is dependent upon flavors, without which it is so defective that we do not obtain the good of the food we swallow. As far as experiments go, they substantiate these assertions, for the sight and smell of pleasing food start the flow of digestive fluids, while disagreeable odors and sight stop it. Delicatessen, then, would seem to be staples, for they are necessary. The talk of being able to subsist on a few cents a day is simply nonsense and leads to deterioration of health. What seems to be extravagance in food purchases may be wholesome instinct. The high cost of living is partly due to the cost of the flavors we need. We commend these ideas to our worthy dietetic economists. Laymen may not be so foolish as the physiologists themselves.—American Medicine.

A Novel Method of Advertising.

A storekeeper in a small out of the way town many years ago hit upon a novel method of advertising his store. He conceived the idea of buying up the stock of stamps at the postoffice across the way. The postmaster objected to be denuded of all his stock, but his mysterious customer demanded the stamps over the counter, sheet after sheet, as an ordinary member of the public until he had bought every stamp to be had. Then he took the stock over to his store across the road and plastered his windows with notices that postage stamps were only to be had at his store, and to his mortification the postmaster had to send customers across to the store over the way for any stamps they needed until some days after he once more got in a stock from headquarters.

Won a Wife by His Skill.

Action was a Grecian painter of about the time of Alexander, and he won his wife by his great work. He painted a picture called "The Nuptials of Alexander and Roxane," which was exhibited at the Olympic games. It created such a stir that one of the judges cried in admiration, "I reserve crowns for the victorious athletes, but I give my daughter in marriage to the painter Action as a recompense for his picture." Action was one of the artists who excelled in the art of mixing colors. He could not go to the nearest store and purchase them, as artists do today.

The Action of a Spinet.

The spinet instrument was an improvement upon what was known as the clavichord, the tone of which, although weak, was capable, unlike that of the clavichord or spinet, of increase or decrease, reflecting the finest gradations of the touch of the player. In this power of expression it was without a rival until the piano was invented. The early history of the clavichord previous to the fifteenth century rests in profound obscurity, but it is said that there is one bearing the date 1299 having four octaves without the D sharp and G sharp notes. The spinet was the invention of the Venetian Spinetts. The action is unique. The instrument is similar to a small harpsichord, with one string to each note. The strings are set in vibration by points of quills elevated on wooden uprights known as jacks, and the depression of the keys causes the points to pass upward, producing a tone similar to that of a harp. Springs are used to draw the quills back into position. The keyboard is arranged in a manner after the present modern piano.

Apartment House Life.

I know you say you can't help living in a flat, but you could help it if you weren't too lazy to live in the suburbs. There is no real home life possible without children—and one, but two or three—enough to keep the young mother too busy to make believe she belongs to the smart set. And apartments are either too small for that or the landlords won't tolerate children at all. And then there is no neighborhood life. It's a good thing to have gossipy neighbors. You're more apt to be careful of the way you live.

I always think of apartment house life as a sort of joke on socialism—a lot of strangers living under roof with just two mutual interests, a dumb waiter shaft and an artificial joint. And I'm bound to say that I think it is responsible for a heathen race without children. Children sacrifice and it's sacrifice that make good men and women.—Amelia S. Barr in New York World.

A Scoop.

John L. Toole, the famous English comedian and practical joker, and Mr Justice Hawkins, who was afterward Lord Brampton, were great friends. They were at supper together one evening discussing the events of the day. The judge incidentally mentioned that he intended on the morrow giving the man he had been trying fifteen years because he deserved it.

As Toole was leaving he blandly inquired:

"Oh, would you mind my calling at the newspaper offices and telling them about that fifteen years? It will be a tip for them—exclusive information, you know—and will do me no end of good with the press."

"Good gracious! No, sir!" exclaimed the judge, who took the precaution of accompanying Toole to his hotel and seeing him safely to bed.

Adam's Apple.

The projection in the front of the throat in men, denoting the position of the thyroid cartilage, is styled "Adam's apple." It develops rapidly usually when the voice "breaks," being comparatively small in both children and women. The name arose from the tradition that when Adam attempted to swallow the apple in paradise it stuck in his throat, giving rise to the swelling since seen in all his adult male descendants.

A Great Man.

"Father," said little Bells, "what is a great man?"

"A great man, my son, is one who manages to gather about him a whole lot of assistants who will take the blame for his mistakes while he gets the credit for their good ideas?"

Not Wholly Personal.

A.—You have used the word "donkey" several times in the last ten minutes. Am I to understand that you mean anything of a personal nature? B.—Certainly not. There are lots of donkeys in the world besides you.

To learn obeying is the fundamental art of governing.—Curtyis.

Mild Haring.

The proprietor of a plumbing establishment downtown has a poor opinion of goat intuitions. A young man, dapper and trendy, came into his plumbing shop and asked to see an expensive porcelain bathtub. The proprietor exploited at length the good qualities of a certain make.

"This seems to be an excellent one," said the young man.

Without warning he jumped into the bathtub, drew his coat closely around him and exclaimed: "Quick, turn on the water! I want to try it."

The proprietor thought he was to raise and, scolding his lend, told: "There, there, you're all right."

"Yes," the young man gurgled splashing in the imaginary water, "it's very comfortable."

Then he began to sputter and spit ter.

"Quick, quick!" he cried. "Turn off the water! I'm drowning!"

"Well till I reach the faucet," said the proprietor softly, side stepping to the telephone.

Just at this moment two other yammers, a trifle older, entered.

"Well, Bobby, had your bath?" the inquired.

"Yes."

"Then come down to the vegetarian restaurant and order a side of roast beef."—New York Globe.

Good as a Corkscrew.

"Do you know how to take a right cork out of a bottle without a cork screw?" was asked by a woman the other day at a gossipy party. "It's a mighty good thing to know in an emergency."

"My sister and I were visiting back from the mountains, and she got fun on the cars. I had a bottle of and some spirits of ammonia in my hat but when I tried to get the cork out I simply couldn't make it budge.

"Let me take it and I'll show you," suggested a man across the aisle.

Then, borrowing my pocketknife and my hat pin, he started to work the cork in a jiffy. He inserted the blades on opposite sides between the bottle and the cork, and we turned in a different direction. Then when the blades were firmly pushed in he simply pressed the two together, gave them a wrench sideways, and the cork came out without any trouble. I have since tried it on lager bottles with success. It is a trick worth knowing."—Exchange.

The Sabbatical Patent.

When Sir Ian Hamilton was in South Africa getting ready to head off Lord Kitchener he had occasion to visit each of a large detail of which a group of men was stationed, doing road-making. Captain General Hamilton found that these men were not quite as under and at his ease and rather worry in the officers. What knew this sort of thing and all of it. What do you say, all, your brains were given you for?

"I am sure I do not know, general," was the cheerful reply. "Now I came here I have devoted almost home a deal and made. I have acted as road builder, parker, ship guard, supply clerk, musician, orderly, groom, cook, tailor and a dozen other things. I think if I had not been ordered here without a thought here managed to tolerate some of these new jobs as well, but as it is I must admit I am somewhat puzzled."

Sir Ian Hamilton was found to be quite good at every other job, but the one he would himself most fond to the was that of "Sabbatical Patent" London Tit-Bits.

We give votes in the Bush-Safford Piano Contest.

The Action of a Spinet.

The spinet instrument was an improvement upon what was known as the clavichord, the tone of which, although weak, was capable, unlike that of the harpsichord or spinet, of increase or decrease, reflecting the finest gradations of the touch of the player. In this power of expression it was without a rival until the piano was invented. The early history of the clavichord previous to the fifteenth century rests in profound obscurity, but it is said that there is one bearing the date 1520 having four octaves without the D sharp and G sharp notes. The spinet was the invention of the Venetian Spinetta. The action is unique. The instrument is similar to a small harpsichord, with one string to each note. The strings are set in vibration by points of quills elevated on wooden uprights known as jacks, and the depression of the keys causes the points to pass upward, producing a tone similar to that of a harp. Springs are used to draw the quills back into position. The keyboard is arranged in a manner after the present modern piano.

Apartment House Life.

I know you say you can't help living in a flat, but you could help it if you weren't too lazy to live in the suburbs. There is no real home life possible without children—not one, but two or three—enough to keep the young mother too busy to make believe she belongs to the smart set. And apartments are either too small for that or the landlords won't tolerate children at all. And then there is no neighborhood life. It's a good thing to have gossipy neighbors. You're more apt to be careful of the way you live.

I always think of apartment house life as a sort of joke on socialism—a lot of strangers under one roof with just two mutual interests, a dumb waiter shaft and an artificial palm. And I'm bound to say that I think it is responsible for a heathen race with no children. Children mean sacrifice, and it's sacrifice that make good men and women.—Amelia E. Barr in New York World.

A Scoop.

John L. Toole, the famous English comedian and practical joker, and Mr. Justice Hawkins, who was afterward Lord Brampton, were great friends. They were at supper together one evening discussing the events of the day. The judge incidentally mentioned that he intended on the morrow giving the man he had been trying fifteen years because he deserved it.

As Toole was leaving he blandly inquired:

"Oh, would you mind my calling at the newspaper offices and telling them about that fifteen years? It will be a tip for them—exclusive information, you know—and will do me no end of good with the press."

"Good gracious! No, sir!" exclaimed the judge, who took the precaution of accompanying Toole to his hotel and seeing him safely to bed.

Adam's Apple.

The projection in the front of the throat in men, denoting the position of the thyroid cartilage, is styled "Adam's apple." It develops rapidly usually when the voice "breaks," being comparatively small in both children and women. The name arose from the tradition that when Adam attempted to swallow the apple in paradise it stuck in his throat, giving rise to the swelling since seen in all his adult male descendants.

A Great Man.

"Father," said little Rollo, "what is a great man?"

"A great man, my son, is one who manages to gather about him a whole lot of assistants who will take the blame for his mistakes while he gets the credit for their good ideas!"

Not Wholly Personal.

A.—You have used the word "donkey" several times in the last ten minutes. Am I to understand that you mean anything of a personal nature? B.—Certainly not. There are lots of donkeys in the world besides you.

To learn obeying is the fundamental art of governing.—Carlyle.

Mild Hazing.

The proprietor of a plumbing establishment downtown has a poor opinion of goat initiations. A young man, dapper and twenty, came into his plumbing shop and asked to see an expensive porcelain bathtub. The proprietor explained at length the good qualities of a certain make.

"This seems to be an excellent one," said the young man.

Without warning he jumped into the bathtub, drew his coat closely around him and exclaimed: "Quick, turn on the water! I want to try it."

The proprietor thought he was insane and, soothing his head, said: "There, there, you're all right."

"Yes," the young man gurgled splashing in the imaginary water; "it's very comfortable."

Then he began to squirm and splutter.

"Quick, quick!" he cried. "Turn off the water! I'm drowning!"

"Wait till I reach the faucet," said the proprietor softly, side stepping to the telephone.

Just at this moment two other young men, a trifle older, entered.

"Well, Bobby, had your bath?" they inquired.

"Yes."

"Then come down to the vegetarian restaurant and order a side of roast beef."—New York Globe.

Good as a Corkscrew.

"Do you know how to take a tight cork out of a bottle without a corkscrew?" was asked by a woman the other day at a gossip party. "It's a mighty good thing to know in an emergency.

"My sister and I were coming back from the mountains, and she got faint on the cars. I had a bottle of aromatic spirits of ammonia in my bag, but when I tried to get the cork out I simply couldn't make it budge.

"'Let me take it out for you,' suggested a man across the aisle.

"Then, borrowing my pocketknife and using his own with it, he removed the cork in a jiffy. He inserted the blades on opposite sides between the bottle and the cork, each one turned in a different direction. Then when the blades were firmly pushed in he simply pressed the two together, gave them a wrench sideways, and the cork came out without any trouble. I have since tried it on larger bottles with success. It is a trick worth knowing."—Exchange.

The Subaltern's Retort.

When Sir Ian Hamilton was in South Africa acting as chief of staff to Lord Kitchener he had occasion to visit rather a large depot of which a young officer was in command. Going through certain papers, General Hamilton found that these were not quite in order and at last said rather wearily to the officer: "You know this sort of thing will not do at all. What do you suppose your brains were given you for?"

"I am sure I do not know, general," was the cheerful reply. "Since I came here I have worked sixteen hours a day and more. I have acted as mule teamster, porter, van guard, supply clerk, station master, orderly, room clerk, typist and a dozen other things. I think if I had not been endowed with brains I might have managed to take on two or three more jobs as well, but as it is I must admit I am somewhat handicapped."

Sir Ian Hamilton was forced to laugh, and shortly after the young officer found himself attached to the general's personal staff.—London Tit-Bits.
